Hi,

So, I spoke with my staff who says that yes, lots of Cities do these types of things, but perhaps the city is too cautious, and afraid of getting sued, since drivers do tend to get distracted.

Anyhow, there is some "committee" at LADOT who vets these things and makes recommendations.

Let me call Zaki and see what he says about it, in order to get you more detail.

And we are trying to do koi as part of a larger pavement mural and that has required an MOU and lots of meetings and approvals by Dept of Cultural Affairs, DOT, etc. so all seems so easy yet it is so complicated.

Let me get you more detail.
